Castiglione del Bosco.

Wine has long been a passion of Mr. Massimo Ferragamo, owner of Castiglione del Bosco and Chairman of Ferragamo USA Inc. However, it wasn't until he first laid eyes on the Capanna vineyards inside the Castiglione del Bosco estate that he knew his dream of producing world-class wines would truly become a reality. From that moment, he knew they would not only be able to offer unparalleled wines, but also a unique and breathtaking experience within the Estate that would equal the robust enjoyment of their wines.

The Castiglione del Bosco estate sits in magnificent isolation, surrounded by the mesmerizing beauty of rolling hills, woods and gorgeous ridge-lines. Today, the Estate boasts 23 suites, 9 villas, a world-class spa and infinity pool, 2 restaurants to please even the most discerning of gastronomists, and last but not least, an exclusive golf club that features a meticulously designed 19-hole course designed by the renowned Tom Weiskopf. And all this exists only as a complement to its famous Montalcino wines.

Zodiac Limited Edition.

In 2013, Castiglione del Bosco decided to launch a never-before-seen limited edition wine collection, called "Zodiac". 888 specially designed magnum-bottled Brunello di Montalcino Riserva DOCG Zodiac will be released each year, each time featuring a Chinese zodiac designed by a different artist and printed on each bottle. The first set of the limited edition series included an elegant horse galloping upon the Tuscan estate by renowned Chinese artist Tian Shuhan. Tian is noted for his meticulous sketches, and celebrated for his paintings of landscapes and animals, especially horses and tigers. His works are collected by museums, national leaders, entrepreneurs, and both Chinese and foreign politicians.

To give some further scale to the importance of the new Zodiac collection, Castiglione del Bosco named this new wine after a small plot of land that we knew would yield the best grapes for producing a unique wine. This plot sits high in altitude and, because of the direction the vines face, captures the full sun in the morning – a time of day that is not too hot. It is therefore a wine made of light, being able to achieve great complexity and elegance. With a rating of 97 points by international wine critic James Suckling, the wine made its first debut at an exclusive media luncheon held at the Four Seasons. Editors praised the beautiful bottle design and tasted the different wines from the Castiglione del Bosco estate paired with Chinese haut-cuisine. With pairings such as the well-structured and smooth palate of the CdBianco IGT Toscana Chardonnay 2012 that highlighted the warm and flavourful baked crab shell stuffed with fresh crab meat and infused with black truffle; and the Campo del Drago Brunello di Montalcino DOCG 1999 vintage, a Sangiovese grape whose robust palate was accentuated when paired with a colourful dish featuring roasted Chilean sea bass and braised Australian Wagyu beef cheek, it was no wonder they eagerly spread the news an even better and more exclusive wine was yet to come.

Castiglion del Bosco Charity Gala 2013

On November 25th, 2013, Castiglion del Bosco celebrated their monumental debut of their Brunello di Montalcino Riserva DOCG 2006 Zodiac wine series for the year of the horse in a star-studded charity gala dinner and auction at the Four Seasons Hotel Grand Ballroom. With over 300 guests in attendance, the exclusive event included a musical performance by Maria Sole Ferragamo, niece of winery owner Mr. Massimo Ferragamo, and a live auction with proceeds benefiting the Hong Kong Breast Cancer Foundation. Celebrities and socialites in attendance included Ms Carina Lau, Mr. Godfrey Gao, Ms. Charlotte Hwang, Ms. Feiping Chang, and more.

As a firm supporter of worthy charitable causes, the charity gala was Mr. Ferragamo's meaningful way of celebrating Castiglion del Bosco's newest limited edition wine series. The exclusive gala dinner began with a welcome toast by Mr. Ferragamo, Mrs. Eliza Fok – Chairman of the Hong Kong Breast Cancer Foundation, and Mr. Tian Shuhan – renowned artist commissioned to paint the artwork that would become the wine label for the year of the horse.

Maria Sole Ferragamo graced the stage and stunned the audience with her enchanting voice, with a performance that included a beautiful rendition of Ave Maria. The evening ended on a high note with a live auction offering guests the opportunity to bid for specially numbered wines from the first set of the Brunello di Montalcino Riserva DOCG 2006 Zodiac wine.

Numbers considered auspicious for Chinese culture such as 1, 8 and 888 were particularly well received. With signatures from Mrs. Wanda Ferragamo – wife of the late Salvatore Ferragamo, Mr. Massimo Ferragamo, and Mr. Tian Shuhan, the eight bottles up for auction were each a priceless one-of-a-kind.

As the evening came to a close, guests could not help but feel contented – the evening had been well spent with decadent cuisine and fine wine, great company, and all for a generous cause.
